Two factory workers are talking:

-I can make the boss give me the day off.
-And how would you do that?
-Just wait and see.
Then he hangs upside-down from the ceiling.
The boss comes in and screams;
-What are you doing?
He answers;
-I’m a light bulb.
The boss then adds;
-You’ve been working so much that you’ve gone crazy. I think you need to take the day off.
The other one follows him and the boss shouts;
-Where are you going?
He says;
-I’m going home, too. I can’t work in the dark.

A man walks into a shop and sees a cute little dog.
He asks the shopkeeper, "Does your dog bite?"
The shopkeeper says, "No, my dog does not bite."
The man tries to pet the dog and the dog bites him.
"Ouch," he says, "I thought you said your dog does not bite!"
The shopkeeper replies, "That’s not my dog."

"Why didn’t Mr. Edison invent Google first?
Then he could look up how to make a light bulb."
Edison was born in Milan, Ohio, in 1847. When he was seven, he started primary school. But 4 months later, he was dismissed from school because his teachers thought he was a slow learner. Meanwhile, he established a chemistry lab, in house. After some time, he made a telegraph machine and learned Mors alphabet by himself. During that time, he had an illness that caused hearing problems. When he was 12, he started to work selling fruits at a train. He was also printing a newspaper all by himself. Unfortunately, a fire in his train-lab caused his ears to hear even worse. By 1868, he was working in his own science workshop. He was very successful, but he had problems marketing the patents of his inventions. Therefore, he moved to New York. Despite all these difficulties, Edison invented the electric bulb in 1879. His other inventions include the carbon microphone, electric pen, dictating machine, universal electric motor, and many other electric devices. The famous productive inventor died in 1931.

One Scotsman who was driving home one night, ran into a car driven by an Englishman. The Scotsman ran out of the car to apologize and offered the Englishman a drink from a bottle of whisky. The Englishman was glad to have a drink. “Go on” said the Scot, “have another drink.” The Englishman drank gratefully. “But don’t you want one, too?” he asked the Scotsman. “Perhaps” he replied “after the policeman have gone.”

“Am I the first man you have ever loved.” John asked. “Of, course” Jane answered. “Why do women always ask the same question?”

Two guys were walking through the jungle. Suddenly, a tiger appeared from the distance, running towards them. One of the guys immediately took a pair of trainers from his bag and started to put them on. The other guy, with a surprised look on his face exclaimed, “Do you think you will run faster than the tiger with those?” His friend replied, “I don’t have to run faster than the tiger. I just have to run faster than you.”

Will they or won’t they? That’s the question Samsung Galaxy S and Galaxy Tab customers are asking with respect to whether Samsung will offer them the Android 4.0 Ice Cream Sandwich update.

Samsung will likely not update those devices to ICS, but older Galaxy owners may not be entirely out of luck. There is apparently still a chance that Samsung is preparing a “Value Pack” with ICS features and functionality, just scaled for less robust hardware. TheNextWeb.com had the news, citing a Korean site as a source.

Ever since Ice Cream Sandwich was announced for the Samsung Galaxy Nexus, customers have been waiting to hear which other phones and tablets would get the upgrade. But Samsung remained tight-lipped on the subject.

Amy Jade Winehouse was an English singer and songwriter. She was known for her powerful vocals and her studies about R&B, soul and jazz. She was born in the Southgate area of North London to a Jewish family. Her family influenced her interest in jazz. Her father, Mitch, is a taxi driver and her mother, Janis, is a chemist and they have got a son. Her father was singing Frank Sinatra’s songs to Amy in her childhood.

Her first debut album (on 2003), Frank, was very successful in the UK and it was nominated for the Mercury Prize. Her next album (on 2006), Back to Black, led to six Grammy Award nominations and she won five of them. Then she beat the record for the most wins by female artist in a night and she became the first English singer who wins five Grammys. Her own style inspired fashioners like Karl Lagerfeld. In 2008, she had had diseases.

She was found dead on 23 July 2011 at her home in London. On 26 October a coroner ruled that the reason of his death was alcohol poisoning. Her family and her friends attended her funeral on 26 July 2011.

Kevin Wayne Durant (born September 29, 1988) is an American professional basketball player for the Oklahoma City Thunder of the National Basketball Association (NBA). A 6'9" small forward/shooting guard who is also capable of playing power forward, Durant was the consensus 2007 National College Player of the Year and the 2006–2007 Big 12 Player of the Year, amongst other awards. After a standout freshman season at the University of Texas, Durant opted to enter the NBA Draft, where he was selected second overall by the Seattle Supersonics. There he went on to win the NBA Rookie of the Year Award after his debut season. In 2007, Durant signed an endorsement contract with Nike. In the 2009–10 season Durant led the NBA in scoring and became the youngest player ever to win the NBA scoring title. He would later be named to the 2010 All NBA First Team.
